Let's Start!

Pronunciation Spot: Sally needs some tech assistance.

Learning Outcome

Accurately use information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can talk about jobs and work.
- I can use and pronounce silent gh sound.
- I can identify key information in a short audio.

Ask Your Partner:

- Are you good with technology?
- Do you often get help from others to use the computer?

Let's Explore!

Sally is having some tech issues. She needs some assistance.

* "Tech issues" are problems using technology.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Sally: You're Rob right? From tech? I can't seem to get this program to work.
Rob: Yes, my office is just down the hall. What's the problem exactly?
Sally: Well ... I have to use this publishing program to create the layouts for my articles. Can you help me?
Rob: Alright. Firstly, you need to minimize the other programs you are running.
Sally: Don't laugh. Why is that?
Rob: Your laptop needs more memory to run the graphics, especially for high resolution images. That's why it keeps freezing.
Sally: Wow, you're good.
Rob: Yes, yes I am. It looks like you're a bit of a tech novice ...
Sally: Well, I'm used to writing blogs but that's about it. Oh ... and checking my Instapic and Facemag.
Rob: You won't have too much time for social networking here.
Sally: I see.
Rob: Do you have enough light in here?
Sally: It's not very bright, is it?
Rob: You need me in here ... I'm pretty bright ... smart that is ...
Sally: Hmmm ... is that a tech joke?

Let's Practice!

Time to practice saying words with -gh. Sh ... it's silent!

Instructions: Practice reading the sentences aloud.

1. right
2. enough
3. light
4. bright
5. high
6. You're Rob right?
7. Do you have enough light in here?
8. It's not very bright, is it?
9. Your laptop needs more memory to run the graphics, especially for high resolution images.
